WWU’s Bishop, White Win Top Academic Awards

SPOKANE, Wash. – Western Washington University student-athletes Liz Bishop (Sr., Seattle, WA – Mount Rainier) and Rob White (Jr., Woodinville, WA) have been selected the Great Northwest Athletic Conference Female and Male Scholar-Athletes of the Year for the 2003-04 season. The awards are voted on by the athletic directors at the 10 Great Northwest Athletic Conference schools.

Bishop, who was selected a first team American Volleyball Coaches Association All-American during her junior season and was a second team selection this past season, led the Vikings to a perfect 54-0 conference record over the past three years, while maintaining a superb 3.89 grade point average.

She led the GNAC in assists all three seasons, finishing her career with a GNAC record 4,176. Her total ranks second in Western Washington school history. She also ranks ninth on the school career chart in digs with 850.

The earth science/secondary education major also earned second team CoSIDA Academic All-American honors this past season. She was also a three-time CoSIDA District VIII and GNAC Academic all-conference selection.

“The honor of the GNAC Scholar-Athlete of the Year sums up Liz’s entire career here,” WWU volleyball coach Diane Flick said. “She maximized every opportunity she had, whether on the court, in the classroom or with her family and friends. She has a bright future ahead of her and all of it is due to her incredible sense of responsibility and pride.”

White has played strong safety for the Viking football team for each of the past three seasons, starting 10 games each in 2002 and 2003. This past season he led the team in tackles for the second consecutive season with 90. He also ranked 14th nationally in solo tackles and 69th in total tackles, leading the Vikings to the GNAC title.

Academically, White, who is a biology/anthropology major, has a 3.76 cumulative grade point average. He was named to both the GNAC and the CoSIDA District VIII Academic all-star teams this past season.

“Rob is very deserving of this honor and a tremendous honor it is,” WWU head football coach Rob Smith said. “He is the consummate student-athlete. He’s going to be extremely successful when his playing days are over and we’re hoping for a big senior year from him (this coming fall).”

White is the second WWU football player to win the award. Erik Totten won the inaugural award in 2001-02. Cross country runner Tobias Schwoerer of Alaska Anchorage won the award last season. Soccer player Nichole Sauvageau of Seattle University won the women’s award each of the previous two years.

--more--
LIZ BISHOP, WESTERN WASHINGTON

ROB WHITE, WESTERN WASHINGTON

Academics: Years at WWU: 3. GPA – 3.76. CoSIDA All-America District VIII College Division all-star. . .Also named to GNAC Academic all-conference team. Selected WWU Male Scholar-Athlete of the Year. Athletics: First team GNAC all-star. . .Lead team in tackles (90) for second straight year. . .Ranked 14th nationally in solo stops (6.1 per contest) and 69th in total tackles (9.0 per contest). . .Three-year letter winner. . .Helped Vikings win GNAC title with 3-0 record.