WEEK 7 PREVIEW

All three unbeaten PFL squads take the field to highlight Week 7. Butler puts its unblemished PFL and overall marks at risk when it hosts long-time foe Valparaiso. PFL unbeaten Dayton hosts Davidson at Welcome Stadium while fellow 2-0 squad Drake travels to San Diego. Morehead State travels to Jacksonville while Campbell visits non-conference foe Old Dominion.

One of five unbeaten teams remaining in the FCS, Butler puts its unblemished mark on the line when it hosts Valparaiso in the annual "Battle for the Hoosier Helmet." The Bulldogs return to action following an off week and will play their fifth in-state contest this season. The Crusaders are seeking their first PFL victory after falling to San Diego in Week 6. The series between the two squads dates back to 1927 when both were members of the former Indiana Collegiate Conference.

Dayton looks to improve its 2-0 PFL start when it hosts Davidson. Dayton has recovered from a season-opening home loss with four straight victories, including a win at Campbell in Week 6. Davidson has not won at Dayton in three tries and has not posted a road victory in 2009.

Morehead State seeks its first PFL victory when it travels to Jacksonville which saw its seven-game PFL win streak stopped in Week 6. The Eagles saw fumbles derail a chance for their first victory at Davidson last week and have lost 12 fumbles this season. The Dolphins saw their win streak fall in the final seconds of a loss at Marist. Morehead State has lost the last three meetings in the series.

San Diego returns to Torero Stadium for only the second time this season when it hosts Drake in another key PFL matchup. San Diego won its only other home outing against Marist in Week 3 and returns home in the thick of the PFL race. Drake sits among a trio of teams at 2-0 and posted its season's second shutout against Missouri S&T last weekend. The Bulldogs will need to stop a four-game losing streak against the Toreros to remain unbeaten.

Campbell steps out of conference action to meet Old Dominion and looking to stop a four-game losing streak. The Camels are the second PFL team to meet the Monarchs this season, Jacksonville dropping a 28-27 decision, Sept. 19.
